About Prof. Alladi Ramakrishnan

Prof. Alladi Ramakrishnan (1923-2008) founded the Institute of Mathematical Sciences (IMSc) Chennai in 1962, which has subsequently become a premier research institute in the area of Theoretical Physics, Mathematics, Theoretical Computer Science and Computational Biology. As a theoretical physicist, he made significant contributions to stochastic processes, elementary particle physics, matrix algebra and the special theory of relativity. In addition to being an exceptional scientist, he will always be remembered as an institution builder par excellence.
